

Orgue

A faint, out-of-focus background image of a classical building, possibly a temple or a government building, featuring four prominent columns and a triangular pediment. The building is rendered in a light, off-white color that blends with the overall background.

EIGHT O'CLOCK SCHOLARS

AROUND THE CLOCK

RUSH PARTIES - HELL WEEK

ONE MINUTE TO PLAY

height..width..depth

Because our college life itself is in third dimension—height, width and depth—this record is presented in the third dimension in order that it may mirror our daily living more accurately and truly.

But we would lack an element of living if we did not interweave time into the theme of third dimension. We have incorporated time into this yearbook.

Classes, the first items on the schedule of any college student, begin early in the day as we rush, sometimes minus breakfast, to eight o'clock, as befits "Eight o'clock scholars."

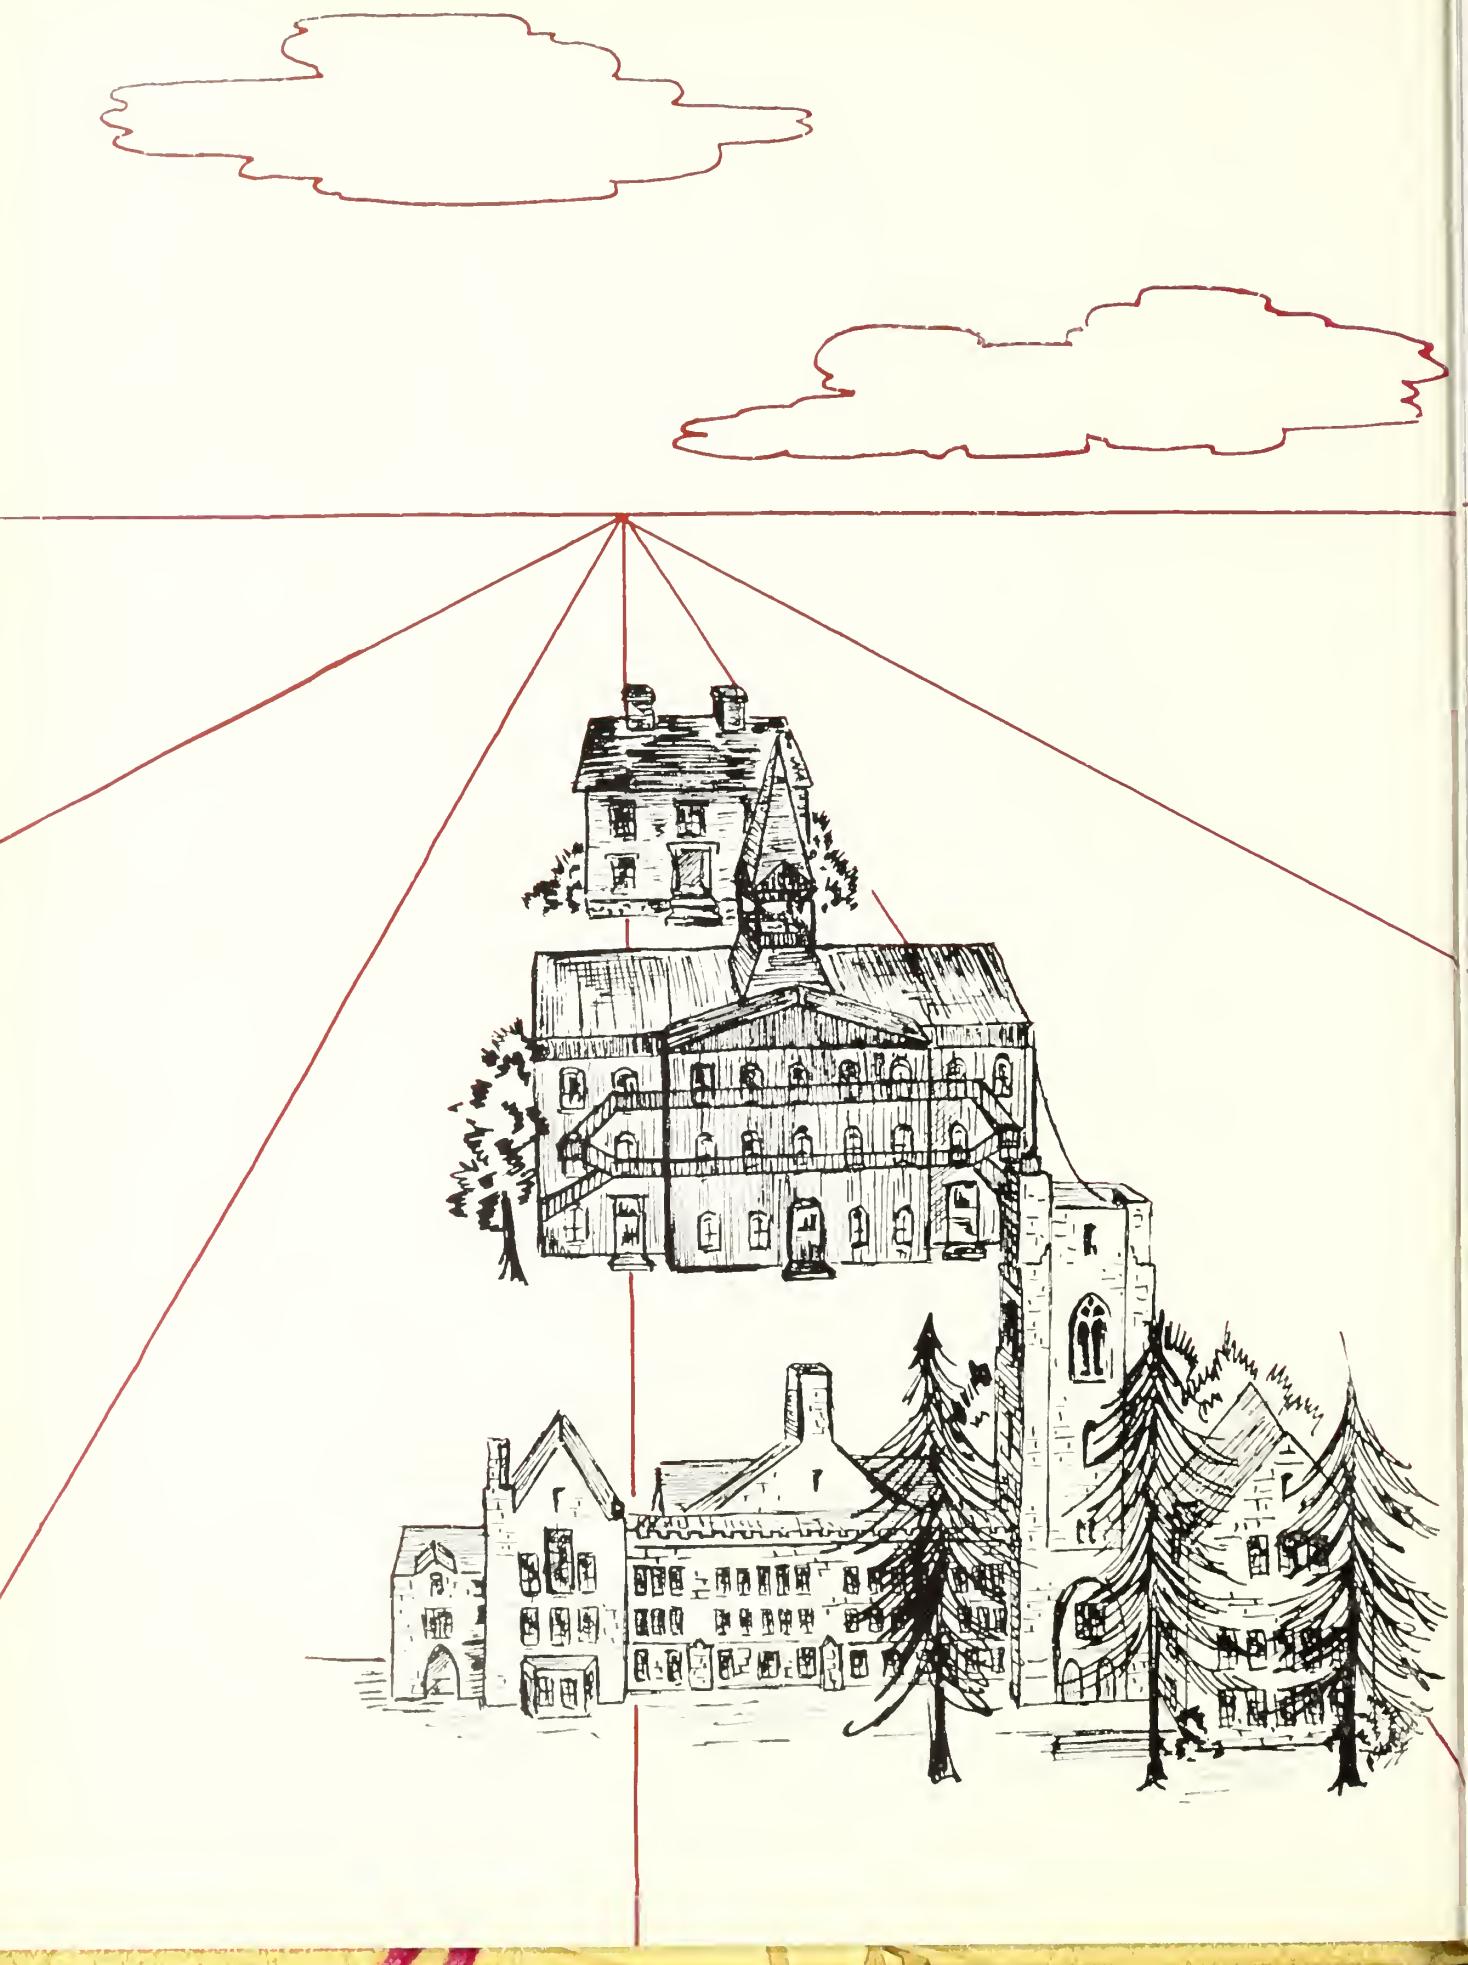

Activities, without which college life would soon lapse into routine hum-drumness, are truly "around the clock," from handing the morning chapel announcement in for a Y.W.C.A. meeting, preparing debate speeches in the library on an afternoon, going to a Holcad staff meeting at 7:30, and attending a house meeting at 10:30, the close of a full day.

Sororities and fraternities, so important to the social life on our campus start early in the year with friendly rivalry in getting pledges, and promoting good fellowship and fun. "Rush Parties and Hell Week" linger in the memories of the "actives" who went through it all once, and the "pledges" who have much to look forward to.

Athletics and the school spirit which make us shout and cheer for Westminster players when there's only "One minute to play," is no integral part of our college experience. We never will nor want to forget those exciting moments when our team was pitted against a strong opponent with the time nearly gone.

Three dimensions of height, width and depth are our college life . . . thus height, width and depth are our picture of that life, painted with the touch of time.

To Westminster and Its Students

We, the Argo staff, dedicate this book to the past, the present, and the future of Westminster and its students. The past has shown a striking advance from the first Westminster building, which was nothing more than a large house, to the Old Main that burned in 1929 and then to the beautiful Gothic architecture of the present Old Main Memorial. Parallel to this physical advance has been the rapid rise of Westminster graduates in the world of the past and in the world of today. Many have carved their niche in the business world, in science, in letters, in religion, in law, and all the other walks of life trod by college men and women. Now that our country is at war as it was in the past, Westminster men have again taken their places in the ranks of enlisted men in the Army and Navy. Others are busy in defense work, or in the guidance of our country's policies. Some have performed the supreme service of giving their children to the service. The college is now cooperating to the best of its ability with the training of young men for the Army and Navy. We, the present student body, will have our contribution to make in solving the post-war problems, those of reconstruction and adaption to a world again at peace. Each student has found his place on the ticker tape of time, and the Westminster tradition of leadership, as exemplified by those in the world of the past and in the world of today, will be carried on by those in the world of the future.

- As Freshmen we struggle with blue dinks and placement tests, Bible assignments and the inevitable swimming classes. As Sophomores our lost self-confidence returns; we plague the new freshmen, we struggle with complicated major sheets. As Juniors and we edit the Argo, choose the May Queen, and hurry to get our Bible thesis written. As Seniors we spend long hours in thesis courses, dread comprehensives, and are amazed to find ourselves graduated. We have a diploma, a degree, and a memory of four oh-so-short years which none of us could forget.

Dr. Galbreath

Dr. Robert Ferguson Galbreath, president of Westminster College, is recognized by all students as possessing that dignity which portrays Westminster. One has only to step into his office to get that lift in morale which comes with a sincere readiness to sympathize and guide. To Dr. Galbreath, every boy and girl is an individual preparing himself for independence; and, with this in mind, whether in private consultation or in his Sunday evening services at chapel, "Prexy" conveys his important message of inspiration.

Maxwell R. Kelso, dean of the college, and professor of History, now the acting head of the History Department in Dr. Marshall's absence, can still find time to direct successfully the affairs of students. Weighty problems concerning low grades, overcuts, the business of six weeks "white cards," all seem to straighten themselves up beautifully—after Dean Kelso has helped to solve them.

For her ready laughter and sympathetic understanding, for her progressive leadership in helping make Westminster what it is today; for her spontaneous personality; for the experience of simply having known her, students will long remember Mary E. Turner, dean of women.

Heading the list of those who keep important things like registration cards in order is Miss Corinne Mercer, secretary to the president of the college. Miss Mary Isabelle Ramsey is the recorder, who has the added duty of seeing that the millions of articles left in the lost and found department are returned to their owners. Mr. Ross Ellis is the college business manager. Mrs. Louise Kepple Sewall, accountant, is the secretary of busy Mr. Ellis. Other members of the business staff are Miss Elsie Johnson, secretary; Miss Clara McCandless, assistant cashier; and Mr. Alfred Shaffer, superintendent of buildings and grounds.

Left:
MR. JOHNS
MISS HAUCK

William Johns, Director of Public Relations, fills the large order of making nostalgic freshmen learn to think of Westminster as a second home as well as representing Westminster to future college students. In this, his cheerful disposition is not a small ingredient of his success.

Miss Helen Giffin Hauck, librarian, and Miss Margaretta Barr, assistant librarian, find that keeping records of out-going books is only a small portion of their job. Besides the complex job of keeping the books and file in order, they are often obliged to walk quietly from table to table, "shushing" those who are not studying, or studying aloud, as the case may be.

The introduction this year of a course for psychology majors marked an advancement in the Department of Psychology and Education. The department is headed by Dr. William L. Reuter, B.S., M.Ed. Assisting Dr. Reuter in training prospective teachers are Miss Margaret P. Graff, A.B., M.A., who is also the House Director of Browne Hall, and Dr. Carroll Leeds, A.B., M.A., Ph.D. As well as training future teachers in psychology and methods of teaching, the Psychology Department gives vocational aptitude and intelligence tests to help the students of the college discover their abilities.

● How to become a successful business man in four years of hard lessons is the keynote of the Business and Economics Department headed by Captain William McKee, A.B., Ottawa; M.A., Chicago; Harvard University Graduate School of Business Administration. Comes warm weather, "Cappy" forsakes his figures and theories for a bag of clubs and his favorite golf course. Mr. Herbert C. Graebner, assistant professor of Economics, B.S., Valparaiso; M.B.A., Northwestern, divides his time between teaching accounting and playing tennis. The newest professor in the department is a former Titan football and basketball star, Mr. Frank Bretthole, B.B. A., Westminster '39; M.A., Chicago.

● Books . . . latest magazines . . . lots of interesting chatter and crispy crackers —this is the English Department, where the keynote is informality. Back in her office is the head of the department, Miss Mary M. Purdy, A.B., Ph.D. In the main office, Mrs. Mary McConaghia, A.B., A.M. "Mrs. Mac" greets us with a bit of wit to "pep us up." Sitting by the window is Miss Virginia T. Everett, A.B., A.M., Ph.D., busily working among her numerous papers. Have you heard of her famous chocolate cakes? The definitely-English Mr. James V. Baker, A.B., A.M., can be seen almost any hour of the day walking hurriedly about the campus. He is the understanding freshman English professor. This is the way it has been, is and always will be as long as it is run by these professors.

Mathematics

- The mathematics department today is playing an important part in war time needs. Math courses have become increasingly popular, particularly with the men students, because of defense engineering and navy requirements, trigonometry being the most popular of all. Head of the department is Dr. Harold L. Black, A.B., A.M., Ph.D., a member of Sigma Xi and the American Mathematics Society. Dr. Black keeps his math class alert with his dry wit. Other members of the department are Miss Lola Sewall, B.S., M.S.; G. W. H. Powell, B.S., M.S., M.A., and John G. Moorhead, A.B., A.M., Ph.D., and a member of Sigma Xi. The mathematics department was among the pioneers requiring a thesis of senior math majors.

- Every student, both sooner and later in his college career, spends some time in the Bible Department.
- Each year has its crop of freshmen under the guidance of Dr. Orr and Dr. Jamison, writing hurried answers to completion questions in the syllabus, learning the books of the Bible, memorizing the kings of Israel and Judah, and struggling through Paul's Three Missionary Journeys. And every year, just before first semester exams, worried Juniors haunt the library, searching for material for their Bible theses. These are experiences which will always be remembered.
- Professor John Orr, A.B., A.M., B.D., Ph.D., is Chairman of the Bible and Philosophy Department. Assisting him are Mr. James Ralph Neale, A.B., B.D., D.D., pastor of the local church, and W. Brainerd Jamison, Th.B.

Science Department

- Formaldehyde, pickled frogs, electrical apparatus, sulphur smells . . . this is Ivy covered Science hall where Science majors spend most of their day. There are the chemistry labs that last all afternoon and there's that experiment to write up after it has been done successfully. Dr. "Hank" Osgood, B.S., Westminster, 1927; M.S., Penn State, 1929; and Ph.D., Cornell, 1934, keeps an eye on those experiments, or Dr. Metcalf, A.B., Marietta, 1935; M.A., Columbia, 1937; Ph.D., Ohio State, 1939, is on hand to point out exactly what's wrong. Everyone learns to recognize the familiar figure of Dr. Freeman, Professor Emeritus, A.B., Allegheny, 1891; Ph.D., 1894; LL.D., Westminster, 1921; as he strolls in to observe Science Hall students explore the mysteries of chemistry.
- Industriously studying the structure of leaves, Biology students spend long hours in lab supervised by Dr. Quick, A.B., Michigan, 1908; Ph.D., 1916; Builtenzorg Botanical Gardens, Ceylon, 1914; Puerto Rico Experiment Station, 1926-1936. On field trips students search for Hydra in stagnant ponds as Dr. Matthews, B.S., Wisconsin, 1931; Ph.D., 1935, points out likely places to look.

- Delving into the realm of Physics, students are under the capable guidance of Dr. Swindler, A.B., Indiana, 1913; A.M., 1915; Ph.D., 1935, Chicago, and Dr. Moorehead, A.B., Indiana, 1921; A.M., 1924; Ph.D., Northwestern, 1931.
- There's the museum with its grinning skeleton, the biology supply rooms with a bucket marked "eyes" and the offices with a conspicuous lack of telephones, but it's "home" to the hard-working science majors.

Senior Class

With the Senior of '42 we are going on into an uncertain future. It doesn't seem very long ago that we were seeing "Finsiders" go on parade and counting the new graduate for the first time. Then followed those vital placement news which made us realize that we were out in college and that it had pretty serious business after all. When the upper classes arrived they tried to subdue us with the traditional horrors of Freshman week, but we stood firm at Truett and Senior at Frey and Ludwig and the Shaking room.

Most September included the "dogge" introduced by Billie Bell in the Black & White issue. This was the year of the Musk Concert with dogges and campaign speeches in Chapel.

The third September and we were really apprehensive. Fred Brookings' "Come on a little, Jim" and Scotty McFarland's song and dance at home. The basketball team surprised itself and we were second in Madison Square Garden. Sally Scotty was crowned May Queen and her court was parading with white gowns and red, white and blue bunting.

Our fourth September and now we see Seniors. Already we are aware of our seniors who have been drafted into the army camps. We had another good team of basketball with a few bad nights which kept us from the championship.

Our and our bad weather apprehension, low oil prices and looking for Britain to allow up our shipping. Before we realized it "Gainsiders" had been way gone. May Day, Baccalaureate, Commencement in due fashion but quiet, and then awaiting our long vacation, January term's teaching for diplomas. And now we are due about mid 1943.

Junior Class

Junior year was well digested. Yet how well we remember September 1939 and our long anticipated arrival in Wisconsin. Friends were found as congenial as school to Sepulchre students; we attempted a football over the traditional "regulations" but the black coated judges of Ellwood ruled on. We chose "Big Bill" McMinn as our president and "Gus" Evans as our ideal football God. This was the era of the Musk Commission. Mr. Johnson presided as the voice and conscience of the late professor. Henry Strohm was chosen at Kap Streetmart; we struggled on "in the Mud"; and Harry Dunne was the up and coming star of the freshman basketball team.

Now comes the great day on the horizon. We need the Washburns for president, we count on Fred Miller to the individual vote and we all longed to "dodge" and bring the Andrew Barts' marching at "Apple Blown" time.

Junior—well never a dull moment. The senior body was not unlike. A recently published newspaper, along with allusions of Teapot dome politics, appeared in Chapel hall recently. We received some little drama. We imagined at Coon May, Fred's pterodactyl shaped somersaults. We falsettoed frantically for the Red Cross and we thought seriously and hopefully of those in our class who had already been called to the service. Our Hounds earned the high fives. Harry engaged as May Queen, and Fred did Singin' Lassie when Chuck Arrington as Paul Revere.

The junior? May it hold as much for us as for the past.

Sophomore Class

It was the wish of every humiliated Freshman at Tribunal in November, 1940, that it would not be long until we would be Sophomores. Well, we're Sophomores now and proud of it. After we had come through hazing, we gave a dance complete with floor show and recovered our lost pride. Last Fall we tormented the Freshmen during Freshman Week and smeared them with eggs and flour at Tribunal.

Freshmen Class

It was hard at first—being Freshmen. We were so used to being high school leaders, president of the high school student council or the star football player, that it hurt to be the down-trodden Freshmen, hazed and humiliated at Tribunal—to make better college students of us, they said. Perhaps they were right, for the Freshman Class soon took its place on the football, basketball, and swimming teams, and other organizations.

In Memoriam

Richard Emerson Long, class of 1943, was killed in an automobile accident late in August of 1941. Although "Dick" was only with us for two years of college life he was one of the outstanding boys of his class. Everyone liked Dick for his even disposition, his warm smile, and his pleasing banter. Dick was very active in his fraternity, Alpha Sigma Pi, where he held the position of corresponding secretary. He participated in debate, and swam the freestyle events for the Westminster swimming team. Dick loved the outdoor life, and every fall and spring would find him hunting or fishing in the farm country surrounding New Wilmington. We all miss Dick and we will never forget how much he has meant to each one of us.

Second only to academic achievement in the college experience are the student activities, organized and carried on by the students, advised by faculty sponsors. These extra-curricular activities develop initiative, cooperation, self-assurance, and leadership among the student body. Campus activities are "test flights" in which students learn how to carry responsibilities and work with others before they are required to carry the heavy responsibilities of the business and social world. These campus organizations also promote the cooperation of students and administration outside of the classroom and thus make for a better understanding between student and professor.

WHEN THE HORNS BLOW
Andrews, Isham

Backstage in the Little Theater some night when the clock's hands point to 8:15 . . . it's a hurried, busy place with white-smocked "Teacher" Cordray daubing bits of make-up on actors who rush around saying: "Now don't forget that cue, give it to me on time"! with Lee Gunter adjusting that last bit of stage scenery and getting ready to throw the switch that turns the house lights off and the footlights on; and with the hum of voices that reaches backstage from the audience to terrify the actors who are new at the game but assure the old hands that they'll be playing to a full house.

Westminster's Little Theater season got off to a memorial start last November with the production of George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion." Following tradition, members of Masquers, the honorary Dramatic fraternity, played all the roles in this first play of the school year.

actors and grease paint...

Elsie Hetherington's portrayal of Eliza, the Cockney flower girl, was balanced in excellence by Stew Davis' handling of the difficult part of the phonetics professor, Higgins. In the first scene of the play, those shadowy figures conversing in the background to lend reality were Jim Herriot, Liz Burnite, Ginny Zepp, and "Teacher" and they were saying things like "I hope Elsie bumps into the umbrella right." Dr. Cordray, proving he could act as well as direct, appeared in one scene and had the whole cast teasing him, for he forgot his lines at rehearsal!

There were funny moments, like the time Ginny's false hair which was in braids got too loose, but was noticed by "Herky" in time. When Janet Keech was informed of her part in the play, she remarked, "Darn it, I'm a mother again!", for it seems as if Janet has been playing many "Mother" roles in Little Theater productions.

Henry "Herky" Herchenroether was perfect as Colonel Pickering, and orchids also to Mary Beth McLaughry, Jean Hollingsworth, Max Linn, Elizabeth Burnite, James Herriot, Janet Keech, and Virginia Zepp.

Instead of another long play, the Little Theater group presented three one-act, student-directed plays in December.

"The Theater of the Soul" had as its main bit of scenery a huge thumping human heart . . . thumping thanks to Bill Horean who was sitting backstage pulling the string! All the action in this play took place in the human thorax, and represented only a fraction of a second, while the period of time covered in the next play, "The Long Christmas Dinner" was supposed to be ninety years.

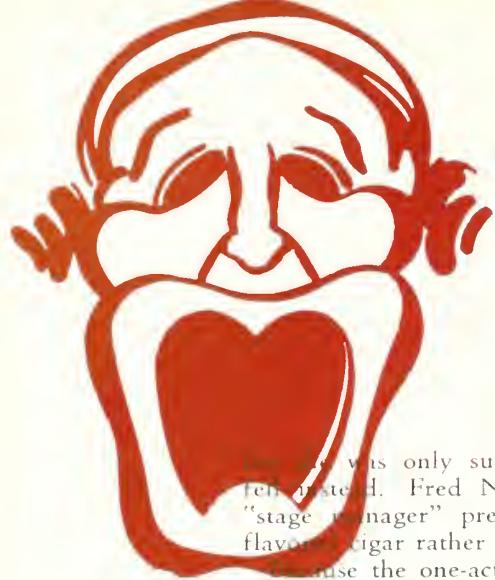

"The Torchbearers" was a play within a play as it concerned the troubles of a group of amateur thespians. June Mathewson played her part with gusto,

Smith, Rosenberger, Herriot, Humes, Hughes making up.

scripts and rehearsals...

He was only supposed to trip but fell instead. Fred Nahas, the smoking "stage manager" preferred a chocolate flavored cigar rather than the real thing.

Because the one-act plays were such a success, the next Little Theater production was also a series of short, student-directed one-act plays.

"Evening Dress Indispensable," "No 'Count Boy" and "Sparkin," were liked by all the students because they concerned a subject of universal interest . . . young love.

Thursday night of the plays was "hoodoo" night with actors breaking mirrors, the lights being eccentric and refusing to work for one horrible moment, and Jim Fife being forced to hold up "Sparkin" scenery for ten minutes until somebody found out why it collapsed.

Also in "Sparkin," Cora Mae Ford, in spite of the cue she put on her sleeve so she'd remember, skipped two pages of dialogue and five minutes later scared the cast by going back and picking up what she was omitting.

Jim Heriot always had the problem of getting his black-face makeup on for "No 'Count Boy," the girls in "Evening Dress Indispensable" had to change costume in about one minute flat, and the boys who were afraid the ladies couldn't do it, spent their spare time ad libbing and planning to play checkers.

In the latter part of April the last production and second long play of the Little Theater season was put on. "Ladies in Retirement" a psychological melodrama dealing with murder, had the audience shivering.

Double-cast, the play had 6 women's parts and only one man's part, that of Albert Feather, played excellently by Forrest Rosenberger, who solves the mystery of the murder of Miss Fiske. Ellen, portrayed by Helene Edgar and Maxine

The two had lived in an old house on the Thames marshes, a weird setting for this thrilling melodrama.

Little Theater productions were so much more than the audience saw. They were the fun and fears of final rehearsals which lasted anywhere from 7 to 12 o'clock. Little Theater plays meant learning pages of lines, important cues, the meaning of "up-stage," "down stage" and other theater lingo that lends an air of professionalism to any performance. The fun was in the hundreds of funny little incidents and jokes that were constantly happening. And finally, the fun was in the satisfaction of that last night, when the curtain came down for the last time, the scenery was tucked away for some other use some other time, and the actors knew they had done a good job.

Honorary Societies

Tap Day with the announcement of the new pledges to the honorary societies honors those who have achieved laudable success in campus and scholastic activities. To underclassmen Tap Day and the honorary Greek societies symbolize an inspiration to worthwhile achievement on the campus. To those who have already had their chance to work towards this goal, Tap Day is a measure of success. These organizations which recognize and honor commendable accomplishments in activities on the campus, both academic and extra-curricular, are an extremely necessary part of the school in that they raise the standards of student achievement.

Scroll

The goal of every English student on campus is admission to Scroll, the honorary English fraternity. The entrance requirements are a two average in all English courses and twelve hours of English. Twice each year Scroll publishes "Scrawl," the student magazine. The fraternity also awards a book to the best sophomore English student.

At their monthly meetings the members discuss books and read original manuscripts. This year they saw "Arsenic and Old Lace" in Pittsburgh. The officers are: Martha Ann Light, president; Dave Harbin, vice-president; Sara Jean Smith, secretary; Eloise Kautz, treasurer.

Kappa Delta Pi

Kappa Delta Pi is the National Honorary Education Fraternity composed of students enrolled in education and having a "B" average. Besides their monthly meetings with programs of special interest to future educators, this organization each year sponsors the giving of a scholarship to an outstanding sophomore education student. In February the fraternity sent Dorothy Beckman as their delegate to the National Kappa Delta Pi Convention in San Francisco, California. The officers this year are: Sarah Jean Smith, President; Tess Stark, Vice-President; Dorothy Beckman, Secretary; and Carl Reed, Treasurer.

Pi Sigma Pi

The youngest honorary fraternity on Westminster's campus, Pi Sigma Pi, was organized in 1940. Its purpose is to promote higher scholarship. An average of 2.4 is required for membership. Besides sponsoring the drive for new library books, Pi Sigma Pi is host on High School Day, when outstanding high school students visit the campus. The honorary scholastic fraternity has charge of the chapel program the day of Honors Convocation. This year several professors have talked at Pi Sigma Pi meetings.

The officers are: President, Michael Radock; Vice-President, Jane Coon; Secretary-Treasurer, Charlotte Semple.

Masquers

Masquers, the honorary dramatic fraternity, is the Little Theater group on campus. This year the members revived the custom of producing a play, the cast of which was chosen exclusively from members of the fraternity. The play chosen was George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion." Each year Masquers sponsors the first formal dance in the gymnasium and at the end of the dramatic season they present an "Oswalds" loving cup to the best actor and actress of the year.

The officers are: President, Elsie Hetherington; Vice President, Joseph Christy; Secretary, Elizabeth Burnite, and Treasurer, Henry Herchenroether.

Sphinx

Sphinx, the Men's Honorary Fraternity, is composed of seven senior men who have contributed in some way to Westminster College through their outstanding leadership on the campus.

The Sphinx Dance and Father's Day, both of which are held in the fall, and Tap Day, are among the activities sponsored by Sphinx.

This year the fraternity is headed by Pharaoh Robert Greer, with John Snow, Secretary-Treasurer.

Pi Delta Epsilon

Pi Delta Epsilon, national journalism fraternity, was founded on Westminster's Campus in 1933.

The fraternity's activities include sponsoring Homecoming Days, entertaining high school editors and newspapermen on Journalism Day in the spring. The 25 Deltos edit football programs, "The Yearling" and "Information Please." Membership in Pi Delta Epsilon comes through two years of work on campus publications plus an active interest in journalistic writing.

Mr. Frank D. Murphy, is Pi Delta Epsilon's faculty sponsor. Officers for the year were Michael Raddock, President; Harry Manley, Vice-President; Marian Stephens, Secretary-Treasurer.

Commercial Club

This year the Commercial Club, in addition to its regular program of lectures on business subjects, had keys made for its members and had its constitution printed in booklet form. Assisting President Mary Thorley are Ann Daugherty, Treasurer and Lois Bywaters, Secretary.

Delta Nabla

Delta Nabla, the local honorary mathematics fraternity, was founded in 1928 to promote interest in mathematics on Westminster's campus. The activities of this organization include the presenting of a book to the Freshman who makes the highest grades in mathematics, the giving of a book to the library each year, and the publishing of a yearly pamphlet, the Deltoid. Its officers are: President, Marion Stephens; Vice President, Virginia Rye; Secretary-Treasurer, Lee Gunther; Deltoid Editor, Dorothy Wilson.

Outing Club

A new club appeared on Westminster's campus this year—the Co-ed Outing Club. The plans of the club include building a cabin in the College woods, marking off ski trails and toboggan runs nearby. The officers are President, Dorothy Beckman; Vice-President, Howard Armstrong; Secretary, Helene Edgar; Treasurer, Vinton Clements.

Tau Kappa Alpha

Tau Kappa Alpha, the national honorary debate fraternity, headed by President Virginia Rye, sponsored the pre-season debate tournament, in which sixteen colleges of the tri-state area competed, and also a speech contest, the winners of which received cash prizes and a chance to be chosen the Westminster representatives at the state speech contest. Narrow, pink-walled, white-ceilinged Argo office . . . the scene of bustling activity as the '42 yearbook is planned, write-ups rewritten, and typewriters pounded energetically as time grows nearer for the copy deadline.

Chal Houston, capable editor-in-chief, divides his time between the darkroom marked "Argo" in the library photographic studio, and the Argo office proper where literary Editors, Margie Cook and Ann Hausman perspire over copy.

Some of the formal pictures were aptly taken care of last fall by jolly Harry "Pinky" Pinkerton, but informal shots to add a true picture of college life to the Argo remained to be taken. Besides "angle shots" of campus beauty spots, there was a need for many sports pictures to supplement Sports Editor Dave McHenry's coverage of athletics.

Toward the end of March the yellow board in Room 215 with the Argo assignment sheets clustered around last year's All-American certificate, was referred to more as assignments were completed by the Literary staff and typed by staff typists.

Finally the finishing touches: plates were sent out, letters written to engravers, trips made to the printers, and so . . . the Argo. Tradition has been followed; a staff of Juniors have published the yearbook in honor of the Senior class of 1942.

Wednesday evenings, and Thursday afternoons and evenings, the Holcad office in the basement of the library is noisy with the clacking of typewriters, the two short rings of the telephone at intervals, the whistle of wind howling under the big door, sometimes the muffled sound of music from the Music Room next door, and always the voice of Editor Raddock demanding that reporters get their stories in.

Staff members come in and out. Sauntering in from the Grill, Managing Editor Ziegler and News Editor Jody Thompson add a few ideas to Holcadabra. A phone call from the Globe office and someone is sent post haste with some copy and comes back with some proof to be read and reread.

Gradually the posted assignment sheet is covered with checks. Alert copy editors correct the copy to be handed to Mike for the final okay. Mildoo wanders in, looking for ideas for features.

Mike has that you'd better-get-it-in-and-right-now look, so McHenry finishes "Sportography" with a final clatter of the typewriter and hurries his Sports reporters along.

Then the columns . . . Helene's Society, Harbin or Scottie's Records, Doris's Books, Lois's Exchange . . . are fitted in the plan for the week's paper as a last minute news item comes in.

Producing an all-American paper requires co-operation. Those who direct the policies of the Holcad must have a willing, hard-working staff who have earned their positions in one way . . . by working for them!

Westminster Service Men

Since Uncle Sam issued his call to colors, a number of Westminster men are doing things "on the double" along with thousands of other American men. Up to now we have only lost a few men directly from the campus, but a large number of last year's Seniors and former "faces about campus" are in the ranks. They are soldiers, sailors, infantry men, pilots, and marines. Dr. Galbreath has been keeping in touch with many of the fellows and has reported some interesting details from this correspondence. Ed Stephens is teaching about twelve hours of classes a week in maps and aerial photography. Don Moorhead, who would have been a sophomore this year, joined the infantry, but he might exchange this division of service for the flying corps. One of our 1942 freshmen, "Doc" Rowls, is clerking in the office of the Commanding officer of the Naval Air Base in Jacksonville, Florida. Last year's Argo editor, Eddie Rosenberger, spends part of his time assisting the General's wife. Some soldiers are lucky, some aren't; Eddie is! Some of our future recruits may be given their physical examinations by "Doc" Salman, ex. '43. He is studying in the Coast Guard Pharmacy School and expects to be making the new draftees say "Ah-h" very soon. Bob Washabaugh, ex-Titan end, is a cadet in the Naval Air Corps in Lakehurst, New Jersey. His unit flies "blimps," not regular airplanes. These men are just a few of our "men in the service" chosen at random from Dr. Galbreath's file of letters. To those mentioned and every other one who is toting a gun, about the best thought we can give you is "Thumbs up!"

Among those on campus who will soon be in the service of the United States Navy are the men who have enlisted in V-5, the Naval Reserve Air Corps, and in V-7, the Naval Deck and Engineering Officers Reserve. Enlistees of V-5 are required to take the Civil Pilots Training Course as well as meteorology and mathematics. V-7 enlistees, also required to take college math, are deferred from military service until graduation. Then they take a four months training course in the Navy.

Independent Organizations

Spartans

New this year is the non-fraternity men's organization which its founders call the "Spartans". The idea is old . . . of giving those men who choose to be independent an organization to represent them in campus affairs. This organization, founded by a small group of men who met in Hillside to organize the "independents," meets every second Thursday evening of each month at Hillside. The "Spartans" have Prof. Glenn Taylor as their sponsor.

Besides accomplishing their main purpose, to give the non-fraternity men a voice in campus activities, the Spartans have derived some social benefits from their organization, for they have had time to have some fun also. There was a house-party at Hillside in addition to several stag parties. This year at its initial meeting the newly-organized club selected as its officers the following men: George Visoke, president; George Hawbaker, vice-president; William Morrison, treasurer; and Myron Wheeler, secretary.

Quadrangle

Quadrangle, for those women who do not choose to "go sorority," provides recreation and good fellowship. The club was organized last year, and since then has met regularly to enjoy a variety of programs. One of the first meetings was held at Dr. Everett's where the girls listened to favorite records and ate some of their hostess's famous cookies. A glance at Quadrangle's schedule for the second semester shows a bowling party and a picnic for the Seniors. Besides the bowling team and the basketball team, there are music and poetry meetings in the record room of the library. The club also sponsors a special Mothers Day program for its members' mothers. Quadrangle's members feel that in their organization they have found the answer to the social and extra-curricular problem of the girls who do not care to join a sorority.

Future Pilots

Until recently New Wilmington's afternoon atmosphere was a lazy, unruffled one, but now this calm is frequently interrupted by the sharp drone of an airplane motor. No, it's not a Messerschmidt. It's a good old American model with a Yank at the stick. Last year Westminster added the Civilian Pilot Training course to its curriculum and eleven students completed the course. This year there are ten men in the unit. The course includes studying of civil air rules and regulations, navigation, aircraft operation, aerodynamics or theory of flight, pilots and ratings, and pilot training. Men students between the ages of eighteen and twenty-six, having at least thirty semester hours credit, are eligible for enrollment in C. P. T. if they meet the requirements of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, and pass a physical examination. The ground school, under Mrs. Rebecca Johnston of New Castle, meets every Monday and Wednesday nights from seven to ten in Old Main; and the students take actual flying instructions from Pilot Findlay Wilson at the airport in New Castle. A full-sized forty horsepower Aeronica plane loaned by the New Castle airport, has been set up for demonstration purposes. The plane is fully assembled except for the wings. At the completion of the course the students will be eligible to become private pilots. However, most of them have already joined the Naval Air Corps Reserves in compliance with the oath they must take to apply for training in either the army or navy air corps.

The ten men who are working for their wings are: Jack Neville, Robert Erzinger, Bill Kinner, Ed Freeman, Scovel Carlson, Jack Cochran, James Ludwig, Clarence Greer, Ross McNeil, and Jack Getty. At the close of the semester these ten will take standard government tests. Students must have passing grades on all "spot" quizzes or they are dropped from the class. This course is part of Westminster's bit towards victory and all we can say is "Look out, Japs!" when the Titans hit the blue.

PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL . . . The ever timely aim of Pan-Hellenic Council is to co-ordinate the organized social sororities on Westminster's campus under an efficient governing group.

Besides making and enforcing rules for sorority rushing, Pan-Hell's activities included the sponsorship of two dances. This autumn it was the "Fall Flop," an old-clothes affair, and in the spring, the Inter-Sorority Formal.

Officers of Pan-Hell are Lee Anna McColgin, President; Winifred Hale, Vice-President; Elsie Hetherington, Secretary; and Barbara Busby, Treasurer.

INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL . . . Inter-Fraternity Council is organized to promote harmonious inter-fraternity relations and to deal with inter-fraternity problems among fraternities on the campus.

The two major activities sponsored by the Council this year were the Inter-Fraternity Ball, held at the New Castle Field Club, and "rush week." The Council sets the dates for rushing, draws up rushing rules and enforces them.

Officers for the year were Den Ewalt, President; Harry Manley, Vice-President; Elwin Fuller, Secretary-Treasurer.

STUDENT COUNCIL . . . Student Council, an important link between student body and faculty, is on the job all the time, not only at the beginning of the year when it sponsors Freshman Week and Tribunal, but all through the year in Friday chapel programs. Student Council also sponsors Monday afternoon tea dances, and this year it organized the Student Church. Student Council directs class elections and the rallying of the student body for pep meetings before athletic events. The officers are: Mord Taylor, President Paul Hazlett, Vice-President; and Jeanne Snowden, Secretary-Treasurer.

SENATE . . . To Senate, a group of representatives from each girls' dormitory, falls the task of governing the women students. This year Senate was especially busy in revising women's rules which were adopted the second semester. Aside from its student governing activities, Senate held several social activities including a mystery thriller movie, the Cotton-tail Hop, and the traditional Lantern Night in honor of the Senior Women. The officers are Eileen Conrad, President; Elsie Hetherington, Vice President; Marjorie Cook, Secretary; and Jean Smith, Treasurer.

Debaters

A successful season of debating is behind the thirteen members of the debate squad who this year argued on the restriction of civil liberties during wartime, and whether labor unions should be regulated by governmental action.

Until the middle of December, most of the work of the debaters was concerned with gathering material on the two debate topics, working up speeches, and giving practice debates at Tuesday evening meetings.

In December, Westminster held their annual debate tournament, sponsored by Tau Kappa Alpha, in which schools from this area, including Pitt, Carnegie, Tech, Waynesburg, St. Francis, Allegheny, Geneva, Bucknell, Penn State, Houghton, Shippensburg, Lock Haven, Mt. Mercy and many others, sent representatives to argue the labor question.

Debating both formal and Oregon style debates, the Westminster debaters attended the Grove City tournament, Geneva tournament, and many other debates with neighboring schools.

Representatives of the group were also sent to the Pan-American district discussion held in March at the University of Pittsburgh, where a wide knowledge of Pan-American history, politics, geography and cultural relations with the rest of the world, was required.

After attending a Student Congress held at Grove City, a few weeks later, in March, members of the group went to Penn State annual debaters conference for two days where youth's part in the war was the topic discussed by the two hundred twelve delegates from twenty-four colleges of Pennsylvania.

When the International Relations Club was reorganized this year, it was co-sponsored by the debaters and the honorary Debate fraternity, Tau Kappa Alpha.

A series of chapel debates was undertaken by the debaters, and last on the program this year for the debate group came the annual Spring trip through Pennsylvania and Ohio, instead of to the South as in other years.

Of the debaters this year, four of them fulfilled their requirements for membership in Tau Kappa Alpha. Debaters were Eleanor Clark, Doris Klein, Jan Hendrickson, Nell Young, Libby Rotzler, Helen Fay, Margaret Faulkenhagen, Merritt Reynolds, Jack Ogle, Don Fox, Don Kidd, George Hawbaker, and Doug Russell.

- To those who spend most of their time in the Conservatory practising piano or clarinet or learning the theory of counterpoint, music has a profound value. And to the others, those who know little of chromatics or diatonics or orchestrations, there is also a value—that of listening to the music of others.

tunes and chords...

Across the street from the peaceful serenity of the McGill library stands a frame building which has been considered the noisiest place on campus. Outsiders would call it a madhouse; we call it the "Conserv." Serving as acting head of the music department, Prof. Donald O. Cameron supervises the activities of over one hundred music majors. Mr. Cameron directs the college band, orchestra, and instrumental ensembles, along with teaching the technique of violin playing.

The College Band is probably one of the most colorful organizations in the school. Fifty-one of our students rehearse under Mr. Cameron's baton twice a week in preparation for football and basketball games and concerts. This year Mr. Cameron added "umph" to the band by introducing three new drum majorettes and a drum major. Last year the band's leadership was supplied by Irma Jean Kramer, diminutive strutter in short pleated skirt, gold-braided jacket and white boots. Instead of the usual block letter formation, the band used script letters in forming the huge W during its half time maneuvers at football games. The band not only plays "The National Anthem" and standard band selections, but also swings out on the "Tiger Rag" and other popular numbers of yesterday. Perhaps you noticed a feminine hand giving the downbeat and keeping the band together at some of the basketball games. That was just "Tudge" McColgin taking her turn at directing the band's activities at one of the athletic events along with the other senior band members. The band presented its spring concert in the Wallace Memorial Chapel on March 30. Near the end of the year those who played in the band for a year and a half received letters, and sweaters were presented to members with three years of active service to their credit.

Every Thursday evening at five o'clock the band presents a short concert on the South Terrace of Old Main. At the end of the selections, Mr. Cameron leads the band in the "Star Spangled Banner" and the flag on Old Main Tower is lowered.

Singers in the Chapel Choir miss the seven-thirty permission and give up chapel dates to dash up to Old Main, change from silks and tweeds into black robes with starched white collars and snatch a few minutes of warming up for their rendition of "List the Cherubic Host." This year Prof. Gordon Nevin has added the direction of this chapel group to his numerous duties. The choir provides the musical part of our Sunday evening college services.

When the Chapel Choir takes the night off, the Girls' Chorus, under Miss Ada Peabody, leads us in singing the hymns and fills the anthem spot in the chapel service. The chorus is a group of fifty volunteers. Every Wednesday evening at four-thirty they meet in the Conservatory and work towards perfecting "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" their favorite, or "Macushla." At their organization meeting they elected Jane Davies president and Eleanor Berry vice-president.

The College Orchestra is considerably smaller and less prominent than the band, but the concerts it presents are enjoyed by everyone. The fact that the twenty-five musicians in the organization are highly skilled is proved when we hear the string section rehearsing the difficult arpeggios in "Atlantis," or the solo trumpet playing accurately the chromatics in "American Bolero." The orchestra presents two concerts each year. The string ensemble and string quartets, groups selected from orchestra members, perform in these concerts. Next year Mr. Cameron hopes to add a woodwind ensemble to his group of "specials."

Another "special" in our music organization is the Madrigal group. It was an old English custom for a group of eight friends to gather in someone's home for an evening of relaxation and sit around a long table and sing. Each person had his own part on the table in front of him. Last year the madrigal singers were organized and we all remember their "I Wish You a Merry Christmas" greeting we received in December. This year Irma Jean Kramer, Norma Gene Rainey, Lee Anna McColgin, Dora Blood, Joe Thompson, Howard Armstrong, James McLaughry, and James Caruso were the chosen eight.

Four times each week fifty-five of the best singers of the college meet for an hour of practice in the back room of the Conservatory. These connoisseurs of the do-re-mi's were selected from tryouts which were held at the beginning of the year. They have been rehearsing regularly ever since under one of our instructors in voice, Professor Allan B. Davis. Their repertoire ranges from the old classics of Bach and Brahms to the timely compositions of Borowsky and Nobel Cain. In previous years the choir's goal was the successful spring concert tour, but this year the trip was cancelled in compliance with the request of the government that we cancel many not absolutely necessary pleasures for the duration of the war. Three short tours within a one hundred mile radius of the campus replaced the long concert tour. They presented the results of their long hours of practice to a large audience in the Wallace Memorial Chapel on Monday evening, April 13. All departments of the college are represented in the choir. Membership is not restricted to music majors alone. In their performances the choir wears robes done in Westminster colors. The main body of the gown is blue, and the trimmings are white. All the singing is done without accompaniment. The A Cappella choir, known formerly as the Symphonic Choir, is one of those really good choirs. After one of their concerts no one is ever hesitant about sticking out his chest and saying, "That's Our choir."

Perhaps in passing the "Conserv" on any one of three afternoons of the week you have heard some close harmonies on "Stout-Hearted Men" or another of your favorites. If you have, the credit belongs to our boy's quartet, not a radio. The boy's quartet is one of the most active and popular entertainment features on the campus. In their three weekly rehearsals the fellows prepare both sacred and secular numbers. Professor Allan B. Davis tells the quartet the how's, when's, where's, and what's of their game. In the fall Joe Thompson, first tenor; Howard Armstrong, second tenor; James McLaughry, first bass; and James Caruso, second bass were chosen for Westminster's musical foursome. The boys sang in chapel, on Fathers' and Mothers' Day programs, and they have appeared in church services, high schools, and service clubs in this section of Pennsylvania and the eastern part of Ohio.

All these organizations, band, orchestra, choruses, madrigal singers, quartets, sextettes, and others, combine to make our music department one of the most valuable and popular departments in the college.

● Rush Week and anxiety come twice a year when, first, the fraternities seek new members from the Freshman Class and, then, the sororities open sorority dating season in quest of Freshman pledges. Alpha Gamma Delta supports two summer camps for underprivileged children, one at Jackson, Michigan, and the other at Welland, Ontario. The local chapter obtained their share of the summer camp fund this year by selling Christmas cards. The "Alpha Gams" also celebrated the Christmas season with other activities such as a party in the suite honoring Mrs. Russell, their patroness, and a dinner dance held at the "Chatterbox" in Pittsburgh. During the year they enjoyed a hayride, taffy pulls, and parties in the suite. In the spring Mrs. Russell held a buffet dinner and bridge party for the girls.

Eager to do their part in defense work, the Alpha Gams spend their spare time knitting and sewing for the Red Cross. They also held a candy sale, the proceeds from which they contributed to the Red Cross.

The fifth largest of the twenty-three Pan-Hellenic sororities, Kappa Delta was founded in 1897 at Virginia State Teachers College, Farmville, Va. It now consists of seventy chapters scattered over the United States.

In the fall the annual hay ride was held in spite of a rainy night. Before Thanksgiving the KD's had a Backwards party at the Tavern. In December the sorority held a theater party at the local theater.

The national philanthropy of the sorority is the maintenance of five beds in the Crippled Children's Hospital in Richmond, Va. Each year the local chapter plans a breakfast hike and sponsors the "splash" parties held in the College pool for the Girl Scouts of New Wilmington.

In 1926 the Alpha Sigma Chapter of Sigma Kappa was founded on Westminster's campus. Sigma Kappa's first members chose as their colors maroon and lavender, and as their sorority flower the violet. The sorority promotes altruistic work as well as high standards of scholarship and a program of social activities. Two social workers in the poverty-stricken and isolated areas of the Maine sea-coast are supported by Sigma Kappa.

Mrs. Reuter and Mrs. MacConaghie are the patronesses of the local chapter.

This year the sorority has been particularly active on campus. There were spaghetti dinners at Savoldi's, boxes for the children of the Maine Sea Coast Mission, a U.S.O. benefit tea, a Christmas party given by the patronesses, a hayride with hot dogs and hot chocolate at Galbreath's, a theater party and shower for Billie Taylor, a spring picnic for the seniors, and a barbecue.

Maintenance of the health fund at Bureau College in Kentucky is the sorority's altruistic work. Theta Upsilon did her part, along with the other organizations of the campus in cheering our soldiers. The Theta U's had an informal luncheon in the suite for their fathers on Father's Day and plan to have a similar luncheon for their mothers.

The T U's appeared on campus in the autumn wearing monogrammed white ankle socks and ribbons. Upsilon chapter was awarded for this year the Ellen Louise Foulke cup for scholarship and also the National Award for Development, awarded to one Theta Upsilon chapter at a National Convention.

CAPT. EVANOFF

Winning five games out of an eight-game schedule, Westminster's Blue and White football team closed the season with the best record seen by Titan grid squads in the last thirteen years.

Competently tutored by Head Coach Grover C. Washabaugh, Assistant Coach Dave Boyd, and Line Coach Melvin Hetzler, a young but experienced squad overcame bad breaks and injuries to take wins from Carnegie Tech, Hiram, Geneva, Juniata, and Bethany. The three losses on the schedule were suffered at the hands of Slippery Rock, Thiel, and Grove City.

Led by Captain Pete Evanoff, the team travelled to Pittsburgh to meet Carnegie Tech in Pitt Stadium for its first game of the season. Scoring in the opening minute of play on a blocked kick, the Titans were never headed and left the Stadium with a 19-13 victory. Dick Newton, sophomore back, led the attack with two touchdown runs of 28 and 86 yards, and Dale Riggle accounted for the other score with a line plunge from the one-yard line.

Just as Tech was caught, so were the Titans humbled in their second game, at Slippery Rock. Superior line power gave the Westminster men a 13-4 lead over the Rockets in first downs, but an intercepted pass late in the game by the Slippery Rock center gave the Teachers their 6-0 lead over the Titans.

Showing powerhouse comeback the next week, Washabaugh's squad swamped the team for Hiram, Ohio, by a 20-0 score. Riggle opened the scoring in the first period by smashing off tackle, and then Joe DeMoise tossed a beautiful 40-yard pass to Bud Wilson for the second six-pointer. Joe DeMoise again figured in the scoring when he snagged a pass from Joe Mastro in the end zone for the final touchdown, and kicked two of the three extra points.

Meeting the Geneva Covenanters next on a rain-soaked Titan field, the Blue and White squad reached their peak of the season as they marked up a 7-0 victory over their blood-rivals. The single touchdown came after the Titans lost the ball on downs on Geneva's 12-yard line in the first quarter. The Geneva kick was blocked by Joe De Moise and Park Glass fell on the ball in the end zone, to send Geneva home a defeated team.

The Titans tackled Thiel in their fifth game of the season, and bowed at the hands of the undefeated Greenville squad, 14-0. Thiel scored in the last three seconds of the first half on a trick forward pass from a lateral, and again in the last minute of the fourth quarter on another pass.

Westminster came back on the winning of the books with a 27-12 win over the Juniata squad. Trailing 6-0 at the end of the first period, the Titans pushed over two touchdowns in the second quarter and two more in the last stanza. Riggle opened the scoring with a plunge from the three-yard line; Murphy took a lateral from Evanoff in midfield and galloped the rest of the way for the second score; Riggle bucked the line again for the third touchdown, and Joe DeMoise ended the scoring spree by picking off a pass in the end zone.

Swamped by a first-quarter powerhouse, the Titans were unable to break the 20-0 lead piled up by a fast-passing Grove City squad in the next game. Playing before a large Homecoming crowd, the Blue and White gridders arm; Scovel Carlson, varsity guard, was kept out of action by an appendicitis operation; Joe DeMoise broke a finger later in the season, and turned over his backfield duties to freshman Joe Mastro. By combining a light, fast backfield with a "brick wall" line, the Westminster squad was able to gain its record-breaking season.

The 1942 football schedule features the local gridders in six home games, and three contests played away. The games to be played on the Titan field are with Edinboro, Slippery Rock, Carnegie Tech, Hiram, Thiel, and Bethany. The three away games see the Titans in action against Geneva, Juniata, and Grove City.

UNLINED

Scoring a grand total of 1,217 points in 21 games to 867 for their opponents, the Titan cage squad continued Westminster's tradition of fine basketball with the record of sixteen wins and five losses for the 1941-'42 season.

Opening against Carnegie Tech on the Pittsburgh floor, Coach Washabaugh's Towering Titans got off to a good start with a 53-36 win over the Plaid squad. Dunmire and Spak tied for first place scoring honors with 12 points each, and Wasik was a close second with 11.

A 49-38 victory over the Slippery Rock quintet introduced a new Titan star to Westminster fans. With the Rockets leading, freshman Bill McHinney sank five long shots out of six attempts and later added another two-pointer to give him high-scoring title for the evening with 12 markers.

Showing a marked improvement over their erratic shooting in the Slippery Rock game, the Blue and White cagers racked up a 69-33 win over Bethany. Ridl and Dunmire led the scoring parade with 12 points each.

The first defeat of the season came when the Titans ran up against the powerful Duquesne squad in the Hilltoppers' gym. Although Westminster held a 19-18 edge at the half, the Dukes forged ahead to win the game by a two-point margin, 34-32. Joe Spak again surprised local fans by breaking away from his usual defensive play to lead the scoring with 10 points.

Making a strong comeback after the Duquesne defeat, the Blue and White team scored an easy 42-27 win over the Waynesburg Jackets before a crowd of 5,000 in Pittsburgh's Duquesne Gardens.

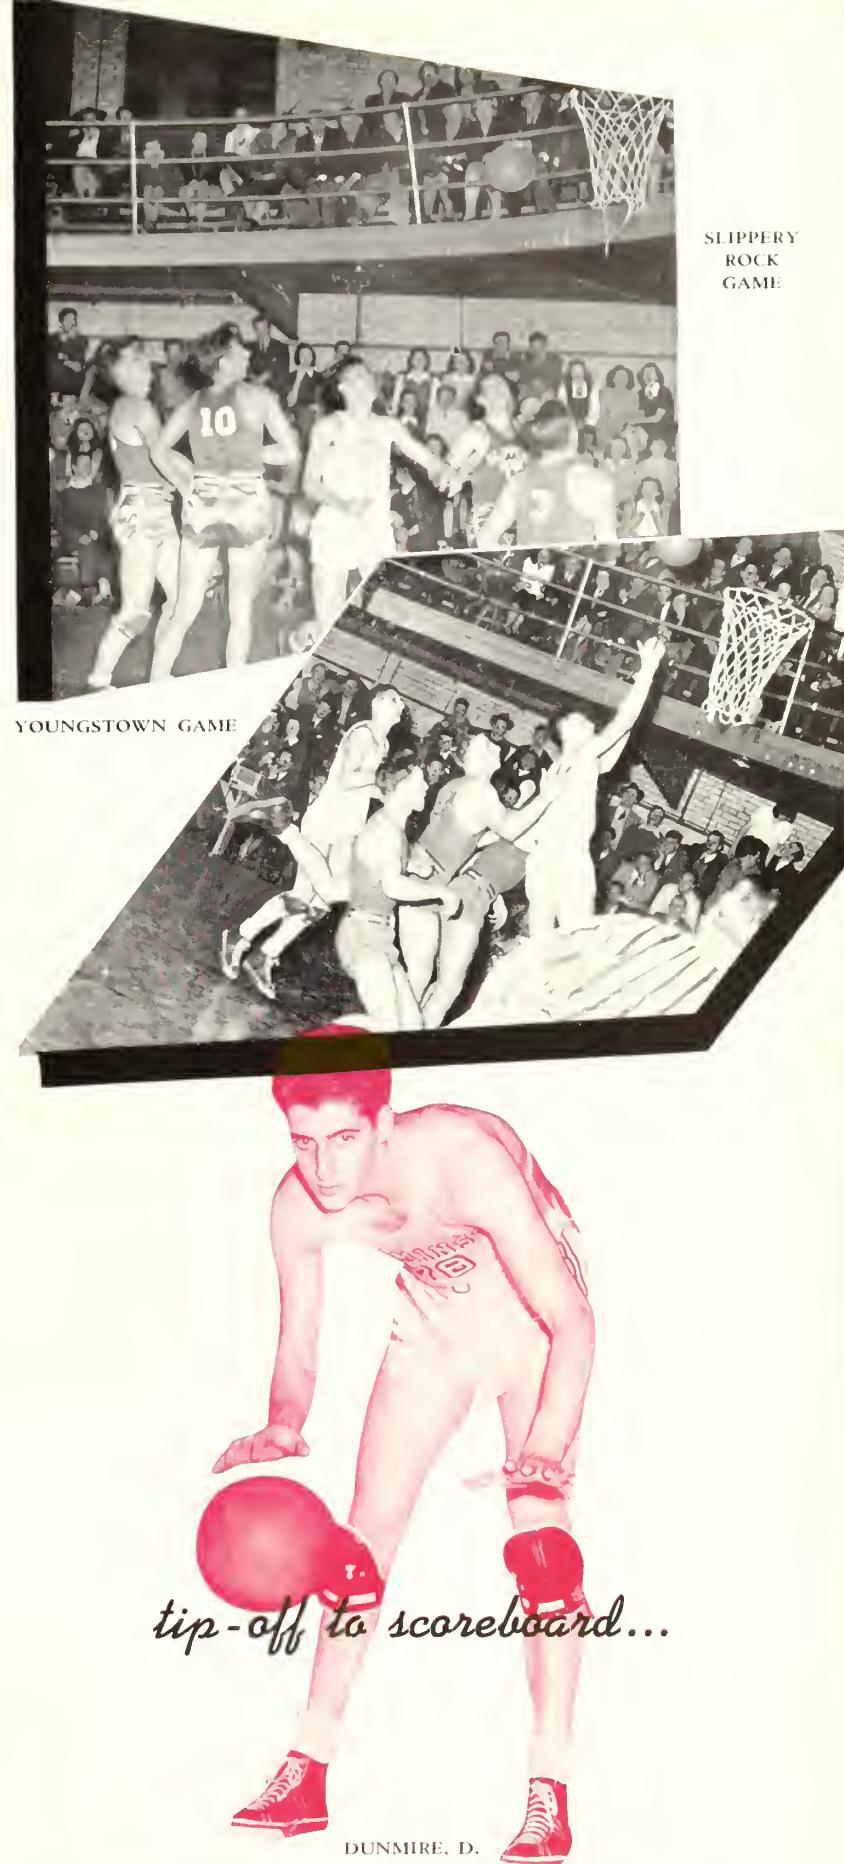

By out-fighting a tough Washington and Jefferson five in their next game, the Titans took the edge in their 13-game series with the Presidents by a 49-45 decision, Lee Fox leading the Titan scoring with 12 points.

Playing two games on a home-and-home basis with Youngstown, Washbaugh's cagers came from behind in the last quarter to take a 61-55 win from the Penguin passers in the first game. The second contest was a repetition of the first, with the Blue and White coming out on top by a 54-41 count.

Playing a return game with Slippery Rock on the Rocket's home floor, Westminster's squad again proved its superiority to the Teachers with an easy 65-40 win, only to drop the next game to Geneva by a 49-46 count.

Continuing their losing streak, the Blue and White bowed before a superior Toledo team the next week, 50-43. Freshman Charles Goldblum, substituted in the last ten minutes of play, was high man for the locals with 12 points.

Hot for revenge for their previous defeat, the Titan five met Geneva on the Westminster floor and out-passed and out-played the Covenants to take a 40-31 victory from their rivals. Goldblum again led the scoring with 12 markers, followed by Wasik with 10 and Spak with seven.

Repeating over Waynesburg, the Titans took a 53-48 win from the Jackets, Wasik leading the scoring with 14 points, Ridl and Goldblum tying for second place with seven each.

Both West Chester and Millersville bowed to the Westminster team on the annual Eastern trip. Annexing a safe lead early in the game against West Chester, the Titans coasted through to a 78-47 finish. Fox led the attack with 17 markers, trailed by Dunmire with 15.

Reputedly much stronger than the West Chester team, the Millersville quintet was no match for an inspired Titan squad as they rolled up a 63-46 count. Buzz Ridl was high scorer for the locals with 15 points, Dunmire again taking second, this time with 14 points.

Back on the losing side of the ledger, the Titans dropped their next two games, losing to Brooklyn college by a close 45-43 score and bowing under the might of a superior Villanova team by a 47-42 count.

The next game featured the Westminster quintet in a lopsided battle with Bethany college, the local passers walking away with the long end of a 79-47 score. Fox easily outdistanced his teammates in the scoring columns with the record of 17 points.

Taking the lead in the first quarter, the Westminster squad maintained its winning margin throughout the game to take a 53-48 victory from Pitt. Wasik was high man with 19 points, on seven fielders and five free throws, while Panther center Ed Ziokowski took second place honors with 16.

Completely wiping out the stain of their earlier 34-32 defeat at the hands of the Duquesne squad, the Titans fought their way to a 37-34 win over the Dukes in the return contest.

Wasik stole the scoring show with 12 points, followed by Ridl with eight.

Closing their season against Carnegie Tech, the Towering Titans took a 50-36 win from the Tartans to run their record to 16 games won and five lost. Wasik, veteran center, hit the rims for 15 points against the Plaid team, topping Dunmire's season scoring record by one point with 184 markers. Holets, Tech center, was second high for the evening with ten points.

Westminster tankers undefeated

Captained by Warren "Buttons" Pollock, this year's team broke every pool record that has ever been set at Westminster. Pollock and Jim Ludwig took care of the dash events for the tankers; Hamel, Brownscombe, and Stuntz starred in the distance races; Houston, Jack and Bill Scheid the breaststroke; Brooks and Colburn the backstroke. The freshman team of Colburn, Scheid, Stuntz, and Copeland helped out in the district meets, and won the freshman medley and free-style relays in the Penn-Ohio meet.

Westminster swimming teams have come a long way since they began inter-collegiate competition four years ago, and great plans are held for the future.

Undefeated in intercollegiate matches, and winners of the Penn-Ohio swimming meet—a record that the Westminster swimming team and Coach Joe Ferris may well be proud of.

With a veteran squad of relay swimmers and sprint men from last season, aided by one of the best freshman teams in the history of Westminster, the Titan tankers built a team that went undefeated through a schedule of ten college meets. The swimmers won two meets each from Grove City and Slippery Rock, and took single victories from Fenn, Edinboro, Washington and Jefferson, Carnegie Tech, and Western Reserve.

Cross-Country . . . Track

Track

Runners-up in the district last year, the Blue and White track team will try to go one better and take top honors this season when the district meet is run off at Geneva May 16. The Titan trackmen have five collegiate meets before the district competition brings the season to a close.

Thirty prospects answered Coach Joe Ferris' call for candidates early in the spring, with a promising crop of freshmen reporting to help the returning veterans.

Several of the lettermen who will be on hand this year are Fred Miller, high jump and pole vault stand-out; Jim Edwards, sprint man and member of the relay teams; and Christy, Fox, Anderson, and Clements, all expert runners.

Brief work-outs are held in the gym until warm weather permits the trackmen to practice outside. The first meet is scheduled with Carnegie Tech on April 25, and other contests have been arranged with Slippery Rock, Geneva, Grove City, and Washington and Jefferson.

Following last year's procedure, the Titans will stage all their meets away from home, the absence of suitable equipment on the local field making home meets impossible. Of the five opponents on the schedule, the Blue and White squad defeated only W. & J. last year, but with a more experienced squad Coach Ferris expects better results this season. Interest in track at Westminster is increasing, as can be seen by the larger number of men reporting for practice since the sport was begun four years ago.

Cross-Country

The Titan cross-country team climaxed a highly successful season this year by beating the best long distance runners in the district in the annual Tri-State meet, after going undefeated throughout their eight-game collegiate schedule.

Sparked by Jim Edwards, who led the field for the second consecutive year, the Ferris-coached harriers came out ahead in the district meet by a 24-47 score. Throughout this year's campaign, Edwards, a senior, finished first on six different occasions out of seven races in which he participated.

The rest of the squad, five juniors and two freshmen, will be back next year. Al Trafton, first year man, was one of the main reasons why the Titan squad rolled along to a perfect season. Wheeler was another consistent runner-up, and Clements, Christy, Anderson, Kidd, and Fox did their part in building a perfect season for the Westminster cross-country team.

In the Tri-State meet, Edwards took first place, beating out runners from Bethany, Slippery Rock, Thiel and Geneva. Trafton took third place, Clements placed fifth, and Anderson finished in ninth. Christy and Wheeler completed the Blue and White scoring, coming in deadlocked for the tenth position.

The Titan record for the season shows a 16-39 victory over Slippery Rock in the opening meet, a 24-31 win over Hiram, a 26-39 score from the Bethany Bisons, two forfeits from Thiel, and a 16-39 victory over Slippery Rock in a return engagement.

Tennis

Coach Biberich's call for tennis candidates found 13 men reporting to the gym to begin their indoor work-outs. After a month of preliminary practice sessions, the team gets off to an early start against Slippery Rock, April 18.

Although the top three men of last year's successful squad, which won eight and lost two engagements, will be missing, the Titans have five veterans returning and should continue as one of the leading teams in the district.

Bill Meckling, elected captain for the 1942 season, will lead the netmen in the No. 1 slot. McRae, Montague, and Jamison, junior lettermen, are sure to see lots of action this year. Other candidates fighting for a place on the team are freshmen Hope, Waltz, Casement, Miller, and O'Melia; sophomores Kingsbury and Horean; and junior Scovron.

An uncompleted schedule matches the Titans against the Rockets in their opener, with matches against W & J, Carnegie Tech, and Allegheny following.

Golf

Led by veterans Bob Erzinger and Ted Ossoff, 14 men reported for the golf team when the first call was issued this spring. Although hampered by having only two veteran players on the squad, the golfers have three teams to build from and hope to produce a winning combination in time for their first match.

Of the freshmen candidates, Lou Grossman shows the greatest promise, while upper-classmen Howard Armstrong and Joe Christy promise championship material. The team, coached by Grover C. Washabaugh, hopes to better the record it set last year, and plans to give more men an opportunity to play in the scheduled collegiate matches.

Following their opening match with Slippery Rock on the home course on April 17, the Titans meet Grove City College, away, May 1; Slippery Rock, away, May 12; Carnegie Tech, here, May 13; and enter the Allegheny Invitational golf tournament at Conneaut Lake on May 15.

Girls Hockey Game

Byars, Toy aim at target

Always an important part of everyone's life, athletics are especially popular with Westminster women. Hockey in the fall, swimming, basketball, bowling, volleyball, and badminton in the winter, tennis, golf, archery in the spring—all go to make up the curriculum of women's sports at Westminster.

Interclass hockey games are played on the hockey field between Browne Hall and Science Hall, with keen competition existing over the coveted honor of winning the class championship. This year, two of the sororities even had football teams; complete with helmets and shoulder pads they fought it out to the bitter end, throwing bruises and scratches to the winds for the honor of their sororities.

There are both interclass and inter-sorority volley ball in the winter gym classes, and for the first time this year an intersorority basketball league was organized. W.A.A. basketball teams play faculty squads, and put on exhibition games preliminary to regular collegiate contests.

Swimming is popular with everyone, and the Mermaids spend hours in the water preparing for their annual spring Mermaid pageant. Hiking is especially popular in the spring, when Outing Club and W.A.A. sponsor hikes into the surrounding country, and to the Outing Club cabin where dinners are cooked over an open fire.

Some of the girls ride horseback, some of them fish and hunt, while others prefer the less strenuous sports of bowling and archery. Athletics play an increasingly important part in the life of a woman.

W. A. A.

W.A.A., the women's athletic association, is popular with sport-loving co-eds, who become members by participating in team sports such as hockey, volley-ball, basketball, and mushball, sponsored by the organization.

Each year a W.A.A. blanket is awarded to the senior girl who has been the most outstanding of her class in athletics and a scholarship of thirty-five dollars to the junior girl who has been most active in sports. These awards are given at the annual W.A.A. banquet held at the Tavern in May. The officers of W.A.A. for 1941-42 were: Betty Horne, president; Dorothy Beckman, vice-president; Martha Barnhill, secretary; and Mildred Gorby, treasurer.

Block W

Block W is the men's varsity athletic club made up of men who have earned letters in basketball and football. The aim of the club as was determined when Block W reorganized in 1936 is to foster inter-collegiate athletic competition. Once a year early in fall this organization of

"letter" men starts off the season with the first formal dance of the year in the college gymnasium at which time the members of the club announce the name of the senior co-ed whom they have chosen to be "Miss Block W." This year's queen was Winnie Kent, Johnstown senior.

Mermaids

Mermaids, the outstanding women swimmers of Westminster, bring glamour to the campus pool. Their purpose is to promote new interest in recreational swimming and to give its members the opportunity of participating in formation swimming. The Mermaids have frequent "splashes" in the college pool. In the spring of every year they present a beautiful water pageant. For several months before the event, they sacrifice two evenings a week and their coiffures to practice in the difficult formations.

This year the event was called "The Bubble Brigade." The large audience saw forty capable girls in light blue bathing suits carry out unusual stunts of formation swimming.

Neptune Club

Neptune Club, founded in 1939, is one of the newest organizations on the campus. Its purpose is to encourage competitive swimming among the men students. Every year the club puts on an aquaade of fancy swimming and diving, sponsors the interfraternity swimming meet on Mothers Day, and life-saving classes. Each member must have his varsity swimming letter and pass a test based on his aquatic skill and knowledge of swimming. Members of Neptune Club are all eligible to give the Red Cross life saving tests. The head of the club this year is Warren Pollock.

In Appreciation

- There are many people behind the scenes of the production of a yearbook. To these the staff wishes to give its sincere thanks for the work these people have done and the headaches and worries that they have saved us. First we wish to thank Mr. Brennan, the faculty advisor of the Argo, who has helped us innumerable times. Then there is Russ Snyder, technical advisor, who has shown us the best way to overcome the difficulties connected with achieving third dimension. Mr. F. F. Rutter's suggestions in the printing of this book have been of immeasurable value. Mr. Harry Pinkerson, our smiling photographer, turned out some very fine work; and Bob Erzinger, although a senior, took some of the most difficult shots in the book and gave his time to the Argo even though he was not required to do so. Jim Moss and Don Wanner, our sophomore photographers helped a great deal also. We want to thank Joe Young of the class of '39 for his advice in editing a yearbook and also Ed Rosenberger, last year's editor. Mr. Murphy, head of the Journalism Department, cooperated willingly and helpfully whenever he was needed. Mr. Baker, the cover authority, helped us to solve the technical aspects of the cover design. All these and many more have aided in the production of this year's book, and the thanks and recognition given here is only too inadequate for the help they have given to the 1943 Argo.

MASTER ENGRAVERS TO AMERICA'S SCHOOLS

An American TRADITION

For more than half a century Pontiac has been producing QUALITY printing plates for all types of publication work and has established a reputation for dependable service which is unexcelled among photo-engravers. Everywhere Pontiac yearbook service men have become known for their friendly, helpful assistance and are recognized for their ability as specialists in the school publication field.

It has become "An American Tradition" for schools to select Pontiac as their engraver year after year, with the result that the number of annuals handled by Pontiac has steadily increased. Hundreds of these staffs have developed distinctive books with the assistance of Pontiac artists and have gained recognition for the originality and success of their publications.

The entire personnel of Pontiac Engraving & Electrotype Co. salute the publishers of this book for their splendid efforts in producing a fine yearbook. They invite other schools to join the thousands of satisfied Pontiac clients for assistance in the solution of their engraving problems.

Pontiac served as the Official Engraver to this book.
